

Annmarie Haendiges Memorial Scholarship

Annmarie Haendiges was a vivacious source of energy for everything that she was involved with, and she was involved with a lot. She was an expert, and mentor to hundreds, in retail clothing sales, merchandising and management, where she worked for eleven different brands. She spent countless hours helping women find exactly the right look for them to be their best and be confident about their appearance.

She had an uncanny memory for color and style, perfectly matching accessories with outfits. Her clients expressed numerous times both that she was honest with them, and that they always felt good about themselves when they left. She volunteered extensively. With Dress for Success, she translated her skills and abilities to help women prepare for employment. For the town of Canton, she merchandised for the booster club, elevated fundraising, and started new traditions. She was PTA president, a soccer manager, and a home elder care provider. She expected and encouraged the best in people, pushing them to stretch and grow and pursue their passions. She had a diverse circle of friends, whom she treated with the same devotion and attention as the family that she loved so much. She enjoyed bringing people together, independent of background. She was fond of the saying "We Lift Ourselves by Raising Others." The scholarship in Annmarie's memory is given regardless of academic standing, financial need, or area of concentration of study.

The ideal candidate is a Canton student or resident planning to further their education, and who exhibits the following traits:

- Passion, commitment, and intensity of focus in everything they do.
- An abiding connection to others, whether through a strong sense of community, volunteerism and selflessness, or helping others elevate themselves, not just when asked, but when they need it most.
- A sense of style, flair, fashion or creativity that expresses appreciation for the variety and vibrancy that constitute life.
- Determination and a fighting spirit that never gives up, and a sense of humor, especially under adversity, expressed by the belief that both joy and burdens can be shared.
- Being unsung, that is being driven by an intrinsic desire to do the right things, because they are right, rather than to attain recognition or appreciation.
