

Dollars for Scholars Spotlight

It's a tradition.....

FLOODWOOD GRADUATES SUCCEED

Lacey (Keil) Roggenbuck, daughter of Gary and Debbie Keil, graduated from Floodwood High School with the class of 2003. She earned her Bachelor of Arts in Graphic Design from the University of Wisconsin and her Masters of Science in Occupational Therapy from the College of St. Scholastica.

During her time at Floodwood School, Lacey was uncertain about her future goals. Her high school career reflected one thing she was certain about, and that was knowing that her hard work would help her achieve any goals she set for herself. Lacey is currently employed, as an occupational therapist, at Genesis Rehab Services at Oakwood Villa in Altoona, WI. Working as an occupational therapist in a skilled nursing facility, she evaluates, plans and provides treatment interventions to improve patient independence following an injury or illness to maximize safety and independence in all aspects of activities of daily living (ADLs). ADLs include basic self-cares such as dressing, toileting, grooming and hygiene tasks as well as higher-level responsibilities such as meal prep, laundry and home maintenance duties with the ultimate goal to return the patient to their prior level of function.

Lacey's message for the community of Floodwood: First off, I would like to thank all of the contributors of Dollars for Scholars. With the cost of tuition constantly on the rise, no contribution is too small. It is an honor to be from community that provides the support to one another like Floodwood does through programs such as Dollars for Scholars.

The people of Floodwood can be proud of their support to young women and men, such as Lacey.
